Kalamazoo Acts To Avoid More Youth Rampages

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—A series of meetings are scheduled this week between Kalamazoo and Fort Custer Job Corps Center officials to prevent a recurrence of last Friday's destructive rampage by 150 youths.

Feeling in the town—following the melee which led to injuries to 15 persons, including three policemen, and the arrest of 12 youths, including 11 job corpsmen—ranging from anger to the calm feeling the incident was "just one of those things."

Joseph J. Dunning, executive director of the Community Service Council of Kalamazoo, said after the incident, "job corpsmen are no longer welcome in Kalamazoo."

Mayor Raymond L. Hightower and Police Chief Dean Fox disagree. Hightower says he believes he speaks for the rest of the community when he says, "we want them (job corpsmen) to come in under good conditions and we expect job corps officials to make the conditions good so there are no more incidents like Friday night." Fox expressed a similar opinion.

To make the conditions "good" several meetings were held over the weekend and several more are planned this week between the groups. The first is tentatively set for tomorrow.

Considered to be the most important issue in the discussion is the proposal to add more supervisory personnel on the job corpsmen's trips into town. Activities, mostly dances, are planned weekly for the corpsmen, with about 100 coming to town in buses.

Usually, one supervisory worker is assigned to 20 corpsmen. Kalamazoo wants the ratio reduced to at least one for 10. Job Corps officials, including representatives from Washington, ton, were "sympathetic" to that proposal.

Much of the blame for Friday's high school fight getting out of hand is laid to the absence of buses for nearly an hour after their scheduled arrival at the Lincoln Community Junior High School to pick up the corpsmen attending a dance there.

Hightower said, "We thought that if there had been buses to direct the corpsmen to the situation might not have gotten out of hand at Lincoln School. We had no real place to send them."

Danger Is Over For Eisenhower

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower appeared today to have weathered the period of greatest danger following his coronary thrombosis of last week.

His son and brother gave up their bedside vigil at Ft. Gordon Army Hospital here and returned to their homes in the east to plan a family Thanksgiving get-together, probably at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

"The family hopes to be with him at Walter Reed at Thanksgiving rather than here," John Eisenhower said before he returned to his home near Valley Forge, Pa. "There seems to be a reasonable prospect of that."

Before flying back to his home at Baltimore late Sunday, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, said of his brother: "He was very cheerful. His voice is strong. He is quite animated and he just sent for stereophonic record player to listen to music. Judging by the factors that a non-professional man can judge he seems to me to be really in excellent condition."

Cause Sought In Sea Tragedy Fatal To 80

MIAMI (UPI)—A Coast Guard board of inquiry today sought the cause of a flash fire that consumed the liner Yarmouth Castle and carried 80 Nassau-bound vacationers to a 400 fathom grave.

Capt. Byron Voutsinas, skipper of the ill-fated cruise ship, apparently knows some answer to the mysteries of the fire that swept the ship early Saturday before a general alarm could be sounded for the 550 passengers and crewmen.

But Coast Guard officials have had trouble interviewing the Greek-born skipper.

"The company lawyers got to him. We haven't," said Cmdr. G. T. Treffe, one of six Coast Guard officers probing the disaster. "The chief engineer is gone too."

Speculation about where the fire started and why was rampant, but authorities were unable — or unwilling — to pinpoint the origin or cause.

Capt. Carl Brown, skipper of the cruise ship Bahama Star that picked up 250 survivors, said Capt. Voutsinas told him that he knew where the fire started.

Eighty lives were lost in the water or fire. In addition to those missing at sea, a passenger died Saturday in a Nassau hospital of burns.

The Coast Guard, meanwhile, said the 80 missing persons from the Yarmouth Castle were presumed to be "drowned, burned or trapped on the ship when it went down" in 400 fathoms of water about 60 miles northwest of Nassau.

Five critically injured survivors were flown here Sunday night for treatment at the Jackson Memorial Hospital's Burn Center. Fourteen others remained in Nassau's Princess Margaret Hospital.

Some of the mystery surrounding the sea disaster has been explained, but much has not.

Treffe said investigators have "determined that there was no general alarm given on the ship or S-O-S sent" because the fire spread so quickly from the stern to stern of the 365-foot ship.

Treffe said officials had been unable to learn exactly what started the fire, but a few possibilities had been eliminated.

"I wouldn't say a cigarette could have started this one," the commander said. "They smolder. This fire erupted and spread quickly."

Students Want Speed Reduced

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—A group of students and faculty at Western Michigan University will march on city hall today in an effort to further reduce the speed limit on a heavily-trafficked street which bisects the campus.

An estimated 178 accidents and two deaths, including one last Thursday night, have occurred on the stretch of Michigan Ave. which cuts through the campus.

Police have lowered the speed limit from 30 miles an hour to 25 mph but protest leaders said they wanted the limit brought down to 20 mph.

A spokesman for the group, Donald Milton, a philosophy instructor at WMU, said about 2,000 persons would participate in the march. He said marchers will place a wreath on the "Flame of Life" traffic safety award which is displayed at the city hall. The group will wear black armbands which they will deposit at the base of the award, he said.

Wind Gust Downs Plane, Man Hurt

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A brisk gust of wind smashed a small private plane to the ground Saturday shortly after takeoff at Shreveport Airport in Salem Township injuring one of two men aboard.

Thomas H. Burnley, 40, suffered back and hip injuries in the accident. Bernard Hiller, 40, Detroit, the pilot of the plane, was not injured.

Death Toll 1765

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Roadway accidents have claimed 1,765 lives in Michigan so far this year compared to 1,837 on this date last year, according to provisional State Police statistics today.

American Troops Maul Communists, Kill 1000

Hanoi Regulars Flung Back As Bombers Strike

SAIGON (UPI)—American troops supported by B52 bombers today mauled three battalions of North Vietnamese army regulars on the slopes of a jungle mountain near the Cambodian border. Reports from the front said as many as 1,000 Communists may have been killed.

The North Vietnamese army units reeled back after two days of bitter close quarter fighting and the thunderous B52 raid on Chu Pong Mountain 220 miles northeast of Saigon. It was the first B52 raid of the war in support of the battlefront troops.

American fighting men of the 1st Cavalry Division (airmobile) swept forward after the B52 strike, and officers radioed reports of counting 244 Communist bodies in one area where another 100 enemy dead were believed strewn on the battle ground.

Bombs Take Toll Artillery and air liaison officers estimated that bombs and shells killed another 600 or 700 communists.

Officers at 1st Cavalry Division headquarters told UPI correspondent Joseph L. Galloway that they expected the Communist death toll to reach 1,000.

The eight-jet B52s began tearing chunks out of the North Vietnamese positions at 4 p.m. Within an hour, Communist resistance slackened, and the cavalrymen reported they were rolling forward against nothing heavier than sniper fire.

The B52s were diverted in midflight from another mission to clear the way for the cavalrymen against a force of 1,500 Communists entrenched on the mountainside.

Tons of 750-pound bombs fell within two miles of American positions.

The Guam-based B52s have flown more than 60 missions in the war, but all the previous raids were aimed at suspected targets of Communist strength. They had never been used to back up combat troops in the field.

American losses were described as "light" but at least one U.S. plane was shot down, killing the pilot, and one 1st Cavalry platoon was reported cut off and completely surrounded by the Communists for a time.

The battleground is located in the rugged hills flanking the La Drang River, just west of the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me in the central highlands.

Delayed Moonship Tests Now Set For Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The first ground test firing of the new Apollo moonship, delayed three times last week by minor "bugs," is now set for Wednesday.

The Apollo's propulsion unit, called the service module, will be fired for 15 seconds while anchored to a former Titan 2 rocket launch stand.

The test must be passed before the fully-equipped spacecraft can make its initial unmanned flight. The shot, now set for January, will be a sub-orbital hop to a south Atlantic recovery fleet.

The firing was set for today, but was postponed Saturday when engineers discovered some contamination in a ground fueling system being readied to load propellants into the 21,900-pound thrust rocket.

Train Hits Car, 3 Men Escape

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Three local men escaped serious injury Sunday when their car was struck by a 46-car Pennsylvania Railroad train at a crossing north of Belmont, Kent County Sheriff's deputies reported.

The three were taken to St. Mary's hospital. Garth Griffith, 23, and Sam Schane, 18, both suffered cuts and bruises and John Hill, 24, suffered head injuries in the accident.

Johnsons Will Be Hosts To Princess

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House was a whirl of activity today preparing for the most glittering event of the Capital's social season—the visit of Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon.

The highlight of the royal couple's three-day visit will be the dinner-dance to be held by President and Mrs. Johnson Wednesday night. The occasion will also mark the Johnsons' 31st wedding anniversary.

Dinner For 140 Mrs. Johnson, who returned with the President Sunday night from three weeks in Texas, planned to go over plans for the affair with her social secretary today.

The First Lady limited the guest list to 140 for the dinner, but she has invited about 15 more couples — in Princess Margaret's own age group — to come in for dancing in the big East Ballroom afterward.

The guest list was a well-kept White House secret. A spokesman declined to give out any names until the official list is announced, or to say whether former First Lady Mrs. John F. Kennedy has been invited.

The Princess and Lord Snowdon arrive from Tucson, Ariz., at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., just outside the Capital, late today (at 5 p.m. EST). They will stay at the British Embassy during their stay as the guests of the Ambassador, Sir Patrick Dean, and his wife. The first item on the royal couple's agenda is a mammoth reception given by the Women's National Press Club and the National Press Club.

Sightseeing Scheduled Tuesday, they will visit Arlington National Cemetery to lay a wreath at the grave of President Kennedy, then journey down the Potomac for a tour of George Washington's home, Mt. Vernon. On their way back, they will do some sightseeing — the Jefferson Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial, the Washington Monument and the Capitol.

In the afternoon the Princess and her husband plan to visit Washington National Cathedral, then attend a reception in their honor at the British Embassy.

Pentagon Chief To Abolish 751 Reserve Units

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, flying in the face of a strong congressional protest, is pushing ahead with plans for immediate dissolution of 751 Army Reserve units containing 55,000 men.

A Defense Department announcement during the week-end said the Pentagon chief and his top aides had "carefully considered" a Senate Armed Services Committee resolution asking him to defer action on the plan until next March.

But, the announcement said, "they decided that the immediate inactivation of these units, which are not required by contingency war plans, is essential." Thus the dissolution will go ahead as scheduled.

The step will leave the Army Reserves without any organizations of division size. It will accomplish one of the major purposes of McNamara's proposed merger of the Reserves and the National Guard, which Congress refused to approve.

In another weekend statement, almost as controversial, the Pentagon said McNamara had approved a trial run of his "total package" plan for ship construction. The plan will be applied to construction and purchasing of a new fast vessel now on the drawing board. It is known as the "FDL" (Fast Deployment Logistics), which will be designed to carry helicopters and handle cargo at record speed.

Rear Adm. William A. Brockett, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, and Rear Adm. Charles A. Curtze, his deputy, requested retirement recently in protest against this new procedure.

Tshombe Eyes His Comeback

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Former Congolese Premier Moïse Tshombe rallied his forces today for another political comeback.

Parliament opened the way for Tshombe's return to power Sunday by voting no-confidence in the government of Evariste Kimba, the man named to replace him a month ago by President Joseph Kasavubu.

The vote was 134-124 with seven abstentions.

Tshombe's supporters pounded on their desks and chanted "Tshombe . . . Tshombe" for several minutes after the vote was announced. The Congolese constitution requires parliamentary approval of a government within 30 days of its nomination by the president.

The Kimba government was sworn in on Oct. 18 by Kasavubu at the end of a long dispute between Kasavubu and Tshombe.

Kasavubu must now appoint a new premier. There was no indication of his choice, but it was thought unlikely that Tshombe would be named.

There were reports that Tshombe would run for the presidency in elections scheduled next February.

Governor Weighs His Decision On Plans For 1965

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. George Romney said today he hoped he would be able to make a decision "by the first of the year" about what office he might not seek in 1966.

At a morning news conference, Romney said he would make an announcement, "not with respect to my candidacy, but as to what office I might not be a candidate for."

Romney, now serving his second term as governor, will have the choice of trying for a third term or to run for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Patrick V. McNamara.

"Some things are in process now that will be helpful in making the decision," Romney said. He declined to elaborate, but he did say his recent trip to the Orient had "no influence" on his decision.

Britain Tightens Screws On Rebel Rhodesian Rule

LONDON (UPI)—Parliament today began formalizing the sanctions ordered by Britain against the rebel Rhodesian government. Prime Minister Harold Wilson warned the secessionists to keep hands off the Queen's legal representative in Salisbury.

The Labor government's time-table called for parliamentary approval of all sanctions called for against Rhodesia by early Tuesday.

This included giving the government powers to regard the African colony as still under its control and the removal of Rhodesia from the commonwealth trade preference area.

About 25 opposition Conservative party back benchers threatened a filibuster, claiming they have had inadequate time to discuss the bills which would tighten the screws on the rebellious government of Premier Ian Smith.

Smith last Thursday declared Rhodesia independent of Britain and said the country's 220,000 whites would continue their minority rule over 3.8 million black Africans.

Smith Sunday ordered Governor-General Sir Humphrey Gibbs to get out of government house in Salisbury, charging him with "aiding and abetting" Wilson "in his obvious endeavor to create a division among the people of Rhodesia."

Gibbs, loyal to the crown, dismissed Smith after the declaration of independence. Sunday, he rejected the rebel premier's demand that he resign and urged Rhodesians "to refrain from all acts which would further the objectives of the illegal authorities."

Romney said the new department would essentially be a combination of five present agencies—the Auditor General Department, the Treasury Department, the Department of Revenue, the Corporation Franchise Appeal Board, the Municipal Finance Commission and the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Court To Review 1955 Conviction Of Dr. Sheppard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review the 1955 conviction of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath found guilty at a sensational trial of having bludgeoned his wife to death.

Federal District Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton ordered Sheppard's release from the Ohio penitentiary on July 15, 1964. But the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati overruled Weinman on May 5, 1965, and ordered him back to jail.

Quakes Are Felt At Denver Sunday

DENVER (UPI)—Two small earthquakes caused mild tremors in the Debbey-Commerce City area northeast of here Sunday, adding to the total of more than 1,000 quakes around this mid-high city during the past three years.

Frank Hadsell of the Geophysics Department at the Colorado School of Mines, said the first quake registered a 1.9 on the Richter scale and the second listed a 2.5. Neither quake caused any reported damage.

Hawaiians Flee From Floods As Rains Continue

HONOLULU (UPI)—Flood-weary residents held cautious hope today for relief from a drenched Hawaii with nearly 12 inches of rain since Thursday and forced more than 200 families to flee their homes.

The Weather Bureau predicted that the five-day storm would ease today.

"That's what it said yesterday, too," one resident said, "and the rain's still coming down in bucketsful."

The rains created flood situations throughout the island of Oahu and its principal city, Honolulu. Muddy water surged through the streets at depths as high as three feet, causing landslides which stranded residents and grounding out telephone and power lines.

There were no reports of death or serious injury, but officials said damage was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The Red Cross reported that about 200 families had sought shelter in six emergency centers set up in schools throughout Oahu. Police and firemen drove high-wheeled trucks into the hardest hit areas to rescue families unable to drive their cars through the flooded streets.

Jetliner Speeds Around Globe

HONOLULU (UPI)—A jetliner carrying some of the nation's top scientific talent was speeding around-the-world today, attempting history's first pole-to-pole circular trip.

While the primary goal of the flight was scientific exploration, the flight crew hoped to circle the world in 32 hours. That would be a new speed record.

The big Boeing 707-320C jet was set to cruise at a speed of 560 miles an hour with altitude ranging from 30,000 to 41,000 feet over the poles.

Benton Harbor Store Thieves Get 25 Watches

Somebody broke the front plate glass window of the Fox Jewelry Store early Sunday and made off with 25 watches.

Authorities valued the watches at $45 to $100 each.

Last Of Gogebic Iron Ore Mines Closing Jan. 29

Operation of the Peterson Mine of Puritan Mining Company at Bessemer, will terminate effective Feb. 4, 1966, Pickands Mather & Co., managing agent, announced today.

Mining at this Gogebic Range underground property is scheduled to cease at 7 a.m. on Jan. 29.

The property is being closed because the available ore will be mined out by the time operations cease, and it is not economic to develop additional tonnage.

The Peterson is the last underground mine operating on the Gogebic Range. It was able to outlive all the other mines on the range in spite of the adverse economic factors that brought about the closing of those mines.

About 20 men are employed at the Peterson. The Puritan contract with the union provides for preferential hiring of hourly employees throughout the Lake Superior operations of Pickands Mather as jobs become available. As a result, a number of Gogebic area men from previously closed mines have already been employed at other PM properties.

The Peterson first operated in 1953. Granite City (Ill.) Steel Co., has owned the mine since 1962.

About 600,000 tons of ore are scheduled to be produced this year. Total production since 1953 is nearly 5 million tons.

The Gogebic Range, last of the Upper Peninsula's three iron ranges to be developed, had 11 iron mines operating a few years ago. Most of its ore went to Ashland, Wis., for lake shipping, but with the decline of Gogebic Range production, ore began to move through Escanaba under a reduced Chicago & North Western Railway rate, except for all-rail haul like that from the Peterson Mine to Granite City.

Gogebic Range ore was not amenable to open pit mining nor to beneficiation by the processes which have been used on the Marquette and Menominee Range ores in their new industry of open pit mining, beneficiation and pelletizing.

Yegg Plan Flops

NATCHEZ, Miss. (UPI)—Thieves used a pair of walkie talkies to keep tabs on police while attempting to burglarize a local discount store. The idea failed miserably.

Police Chief J. T. Robinson said the walkie talkies were tuned to a frequency monitored by the Natchez Police Department. A desk sergeant overheard the burglars' conversations and dispatched patrolmen for an easy arrest.

Audubon Journal Raps Defense On Island A-Test

The invasion of a national wildlife refuge by the Department of Defense—for an underground nuclear test—gets a double-barreled blast in Audubon Magazine.

An Alaskan wildlife writer-photographer voices concern over the long-range effects of the 80 - kiloton explosion at Amchitka Island on its population of rare sea otters.

In an accompanying editorial, National Audubon Society President Carl W. Buchheiser charges government duplicity in the choice of Amchitka, part of the Aleutian Islands National Wildlife Refuge, as the test site.

Labeled "Operation Long Shot" by the Defense Department, the device was detonated Oct. 29 at a depth of 2,300 feet. It was designed to improve seismicographic methods for detection of underground nuclear shots in other countries.

There are thousands of square miles of Alaska or offshore islands where the underground blast could have been staged, Buchheiser said. "It did not have to be in a national wildlife refuge."

Karl W. Kenyon, Fish and Wildlife Service mammalogist at Amchitka, was quoted: "What new dangers will be left behind by the atomic blast remains to be seen. Those could be a hazard to the survival of all the wildlife of that area, let alone the sea otter." The island's songbirds, Kenyon said, were decimated by rats which arrived during the military occupation of World War II. "Not one wren or song sparrow exists today."

MSU Grad Wins Mead Art Prize In 1965 Show

CLEVELAND — "Participants," a painting by Dr. William C. Kortlander of Ohio University at Athens, is announced as the Mead Art Prize 1965 painting of the year. It will be reproduced and distributed to friends of the company throughout the world.

Announcement of the selection was made here today during an address on corporate support of art by Arthur L. Harris, vice president of Mead. Harris, who heads Mead Packaging Division, was in Cleveland to speak to the Cleveland Rotary Club and to take part in a preview of Mead's Art Across America exhibition which begins a two-week stay at the Cleveland Institute of Art.

Dr. Kortlander's painting is an acrylic on canvas, measuring 50 x 44 inches. "Participants" is one of 21 works by prominent artists who were specially invited to participate in the regional and national Art Across America exhibitions.

Dr. Kortlander, a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., is 40. He received a bachelor of arts degree at Michigan State University, and his master's degree and Ph.D. degree in art history at the State University of Iowa. He joined the Ohio University faculty in 1961, and is an associate professor.

His painting, Kortlander said, "represents those people who join organizations primarily because of their need for action—a need which seems to be characteristic of the mid-20th century American."

BIDS WERE OPENED Friday at Michigan Tech for a new 300-bed coed residence hall and food service, which will be the first two buildings of a three-unit complex to house and feed 600 students. Herman Gundlach, Inc., of Houghton, was low bidder at $1,222,879. The first residence hall of the complex (square building, upper right in this photo of an architect's model) will be completed by Sept. 1, 1966, and the food service facilities (smaller building, center) will be completed by Nov. 1, 1966. Total costs of these two units will be $1.6 million. Plans are already underway for the third unit of the complex (left), another 300-bed residence hall. (Photo by Balthazar Korab)

Governor Gives Report Tuesday On Vietnam Trip

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. George Romney said today he would "make a meaningful report to the people of Michigan" Tuesday on his recent visit to Viet Nam.

Romney, who returned Saturday from a 24-day Far East tour which included a visit to fighting zones in Viet Nam, said he would appear before the University of Detroit student body to make his report.

"The primary purpose is to make a direct report to any students and the public that might want to attend," Romney said.

A spokesman for the governor said he was working on arrangements for a possible television hookup that would enable the people of the state to hear the report.

Romney told reporters at his first news conference since returning to Lansing that he

ANSWERS YOUR INSURANCE QUESTIONS

QUESTION: When a person who has liability insurance is sued can the insurance company either settle out of court or defend the suit, which ever it wants?

ANSWER: In most liability policies the company reserves the right to pay or to defend the suit. An exception is professional liability (malpractice) insurance for doctors, lawyers, etc. A doctor, for example might feel that settlement out of court would hurt his reputation so most policies in that field provide that settlement can't be made without consent of the insured person.

Rail Services At Straits Are Believed Saved

Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, on his visit to Escanaba last week said he doubted that the owners of the Mackinac Transportation Co., after spending a half million dollars on rehabilitation of its railroad car ferry, Chief Wawatam, at the Straits of Mackinac, would abandon its rail ferry service there.

The maintenance of rail service in the top of the Lower Peninsula had been threatened by the request of several railroads there to abandon trackage, and the request of the Mackinac Transportation Co. to the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon its Strait rail ferry service.

Loss of the Mackinac rail gateway to Lower Michigan and the East would be regarded as serious by the Upper Peninsula, although it still would have its present rail connections with the Lower Peninsula via Manistique and Menominee.

Against Railroads

In Lansing final victory has been sighted in the efforts of the top of the Lower Peninsula to keep rail and ferry service because the ICC examiner is convinced that the region has solid potential for economic growth.

ICC Examiner Hyman C. Blond said in a 61-page report denying the railroads' request to quit the area that lumbering, iron and copper ore industries all need continuation of rail service across the Straits if that area is to live and grow.

Milliken Veto Action Praised

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. George Romney today complimented Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken on his work as acting governor while Romney was on his 24-day trip to the Far East.

Milliken was in the center of Democratic attacks on the Romney Administration for three vetoes handed down while the governor was on tour.

"The action taken was very sound, particularly in the light of our fiscal picture," Romney said.

Vetoed were bills to allow a $12 million supplemental appropriation to eight state colleges and universities, a senior citizens tax relief measure and a homestead tax relief bill for disabled veterans and widows of disabled veterans.

"The senior citizens bill is just administratively impossible," Romney said. "It is not a well developed piece of legislation. It could not be signed because of defects."

The college aid bill would have provided funds to all major state colleges but Michigan State, Wayne State and the University of Michigan. Funds would have been used to help compensate for larger-than-expected enrollments.

Romney said there "has to be some firm decision" made on budget matters by the colleges. He said they can't come back after the budget is in and ask for more money because they have taken in more students than their budget will permit.

Passing the college bill would set a "completely new precedent and would create difficulty in the future," he said.

On the veterans bill, Romney said the measure would also apply to widows of non-disabled veterans and such a provision should not be allowed.

Romney said he planned to ask for money at the next session of the Legislature to set up a committee to study the broad area of tax exemptions.

"There needs to be some attention given to tax exemptions to see if we are going too far," he said.

More Millions Asked At NMU

MARQUETTE (UPI)—Northern Michigan University told the state today it would need $3.5 million more in state funds to operate next year.

The school announced its Board of Control voted to ask the Michigan Legislature for $6.9 million for the 1966-67 fiscal year, up $3.5 million from the current year.

President Edgar L. Harden, said the money was needed to hike faculty and staff salaries, hire new teachers, improve the library, pay for faculty travel and employ fringe benefits and meet other cost increases.

Harden said several construction projects were being completed this year and the school would need only $4.4 million for new buildings compared with $8.3 million this year.

Court Fines Six Hunters

Fines and costs totaling $185.50 were assessed to six deer hunters by Justice Ross Davis of Gladstone over the weekend after arrests by conservation officers.

All six hunters had pleaded guilty to various game law violations. Court costs in all cases were $7.30.

Richard Jennings, 33, of Lansing, was fined $50 on a charge of killing more deer than permitted in one season. Clinton Jennings, 56, of Lansing, was fined $50 for killing a doe in an area not covered by his permit. Justice Davis suspended $25 of his fine.

Kenneth Syring Jr., 21, of Rte. 1, Munger, Mich., and Philip Lalerman Jr., Rte. 1, Essexville, Mich., each were fined $10 for transporting a rifle in the woods during the five-day period prior to the opening of deer season.

Fred W. Messick, 22, of Chicago, paid a fine of $10 for having possession in his automobile of a loaded firearm other than a pistol or revolver and Michael D. Sanville, 21, of Rte. 1, Cornell, was fined $10 for failing to place his seal securely on the antlers of his buck.

War On Poverty

The skirmishing in the War on Poverty at this time is about whether the poor are to have a voice in their fate, or whether the politicians will call all the shots without benefit of counsel from the persons immediately concerned.

At the working level in the Upper Peninsula emphasis was placed on the role that low income people can play in implementing the economic opportunity programs in a two day workshop in Escanaba in October sponsored by the U.P. Committee on Area Progress for the six new U.P. Community Action Agencies.

At an earlier meeting in St. Ignace agency people stressed that the schools were making too good a thing of the War on Poverty and that the impoverished should be dealt a better hand. The aid to youth program had gone to students in a ratio of 60 per cent to 40 per cent for nonstudents and the government wanted these figures reversed. "We want them to have jobs and income," said an official, indicating that these considerations took precedence over the training of the young.

At least 25 per cent of the members of the new Community Action Agencies have to be from the group served, but this idea is running into strong opposition in Washington.

The Bureau of the Budget has told the Office of Economic Opportunity that much more emphasis should be placed on hiring the poor for anti-poverty jobs at neighborhood level, and much less emphasis should be placed on giving the poor seats on policy making anti-poverty boards. A special committee of the U.S. Conference of Mayors had urged this policy since last spring.

Local political organizations throughout the country have become increasingly fearful that local anti-poverty programs—with their fat supply of patronage jobs and federal money—could come under the control of opposition political factions which professed to speak for the poor. A cutback in community action programs is under consideration because of the political controversy which had developed, an administration source said.

Anti-poverty Chief Sargent Shriver said it was unfortunate that the Budget Bureau's view had been suggested to the public as the administration's view and that maximum feasible participation by the poor in decision making still was the official policy. Indications of a change in policy persisted, however.

The skirmish over whether the poor are to have a voice in their fate should not impress the public as much as some other considerations about the War on Poverty. If the poor had the means of improving their lot, presumably they'd do it, so their counsel shouldn't overwhelm other opinion in the Community Action Agencies.

One of the most serious implications of the War on Poverty is that to make it a political success, other programs which have proven their effectiveness in warring on poverty are being bled. This is evident here in the Upper Peninsula.

Michigan State University is under pressures which have caused it to cut back its U.P. Extension staff seriously. Schoolcraft and Menominee counties aren't to have home economics agents to teach the conserving and wise spending of home income, nor youth agents to work with 4-H clubs. These services are to come from the already fully busy staff in Delta County.

The result is less leadership in the essentials of War on Poverty. Here and elsewhere in the U.P. we are removing people who have been trained in helping people and who are skilled in it and we are substituting for them people who are looking for work. We are undertaking to set up agencies, with political orientations, which will remedy the immensely complex problem of the social laggard. They are, of course, the hardest to help.

Every involved major government agency—schools, health department, welfare department—has dealt with this problem and solved it so impressively that America's affluence is unprecedented. But the individual laggards are now going to be specially helped by the War on Poverty.

Insofar as the Economic Opportunity Office uses the skills and experience of the existing agencies and implements them more fully, the program is apt to be effective enough to justify the billions it will cost. Where it ventures into new political alleyways it's apt to boondoggle.

The Upper Peninsula tried valiantly and unsuccessfully a few years ago to set up an economic development organization with its own resources. The effort failed. We now have 6 Community Action Agencies set up with staffing that will cost as much each as that one unattainable agency would have cost.

And while the federal government attacks poverty so liberally with one hand, with the other it reduces the federal aid on hot lunch in the schools. Once 8 cents a meal, it's now 1 cent. It closes the Weather Bureau stations so that taxpayers have no better local information than that provided by a look out the window.

And what does that look reveal today? The approach of the third man this month inquiring about the welfare of the Indians at Hannahville? He's concerned about them, on salary. We have been, too, for 15 years.

Letters To The Press

FOR PATRIOTISM

The Escanaba Veteran's Council, meeting Thursday night at a Veteran's Day dinner at the American Legion Club, went on record denouncing the many "anti-U.S. support in Viet Nam" demonstrations as well as the instances of draft card burning.

Something that may be more important, however, is that the Vets Council wants to congratulate the Youth of Escanaba, Delta County and the Upper Peninsula because they have neither participated in these "anti" demonstrations nor the draft card burnings. We, as Escanaba Area veterans, salute the young people of this area! We are particularly well pleased with the students from Houghton Tech who recently participated in a demonstration supporting U.S. action in Viet Nam. This was an act of patriotism!

We veterans can understand that the youth of our Nation don't want to leave home, or go overseas, or be in battle. The veterans of prior wars and conflicts will tell you that they too, did not want to do any of these things. Yet, when duty called, they answered! And by doing so, they were able to keep these wars and conflicts away from our soil!

We as veterans wish that somehow we could instill the feeling of greater patriotism in the youth of our great country and perhaps instead of using their energy in the "anti" demonstrations, they might use it to run to the nearest Recruiting Office.

These men don't have time nor energy to smile at a stranger. Their job is a deadly one, to provide protection for the villagers on the islands and an early warning in case of a Viet Cong mass attack from that direction.

If such an attack came, their hope of survival would be slim. Almost daily new boobytraps are discovered, trip mines, bear traps, punji pits and mines, all laid by the VC. To go along with the traps are the rats, snakes and insects.

"Who has time to smile, with all that?" asked one private. The meals are cold and let- ters from home are few. Night is the most frightful time, every man is conditioned mentally to react instantly at the slightest sound, each sleeps in his fighting hole, flak jacked on and weapon loaded. The days are hot and humid, the flies are many, there is no shade.

The local Viet Cong, Bed-check Chan, nightly makes his rounds, firing a few shots at the positions and escaping before Marines can be mustered to give chase. He is a well informed VC, avoiding all ambushes set up by the Marines and Popular Forces. He has hit no-one yet, but the men know that some day he'll be lucky.

The visitors discomfort increases when he looks closely at the men. They are worn and ragged, they stand their watches by sheer will power, each knowing that if he sleeps, he and his buddies may not live to see the sun rise.

"We're the best, and we know it!" "We'll march to Hanoi to prove it!" "We take from any gook, if they want to throw hands, we will, if they want to play hide-and-seek, we'll do that too! And beat them both ways!" I have seen these men in action and I believe them.

These Red documents report: No more than two-fifths of the membership of a village ruling committee (village council) shall be card-carrying Communists.

Sixty per cent of each village committee is to be composed of representatives from the various classes and organizations in the village. There is to be a representative for the land-owners, one for the farmers, one for the women, etc.

This gives the appearance of wide representation. It also insures that no one group will be strong enough to outmaneuver the Communist bloc (40 per cent) on the committee. (To further insure their dominance, the Reds make certain that a good share of the 60 per cent "non-Communists" are people who can be readily dominated.)

The secretary of the ruling committee is always a Communist. He is the executive who runs the committee. He reports to the local Communist party leader, who gives him his orders.

The local Communist party leader, in turn, receives his orders from the district Communist party—and so on up the line to Hanoi.

The Communists use the Front committees to collect taxes, conscript manpower for military and economic requirements and to run rudimentary schools, hospitals and courts.

Thus the Communists attempt to escape blame for exorbitant taxes, high military conscription rates and local government bobbles while keeping authority firmly in their hands.

U.S. officials hope each such Communist village will tend to weaken within if vigorous democratic villages, able to protect themselves militarily, are created in nearby areas.

The Doctor Says: Ann Landers

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

The mid-Victorian child was brought up to be seen but not heard. How much damage this did I can't say but child psychiatrists now believe that freedom of speech should not only begin at home but should be extended to the children.

Voltaire once said: "I disapprove of what you say but I will defend to the death your right to say it." He was speaking to an adult but, had he been speaking to a child, his words would have been no less wise and no less perceptive of a fundamental human need—the right of self-expression.

The child who is allowed to express his thoughts, no matter how ridiculous or immature, is being helped to grow up and to maintain normal mental health. If he is forced to keep quiet, he is very likely to become an "angry young man" and to harbor antisocial feelings that will be a detriment to both himself and the society in which he lives.

Despite much external evidence to the contrary a child is, after all, a human being.

Because a child's normal ambition is to be as nearly as possible like the adults he knows, and especially his parents, he will do his best to imitate them.

When he feels that you approve of him it will strengthen his feeling of security and love. Strange as it may seem, when he feels that you disapprove, but for reasons he can understand, this too, will strengthen these feelings. When, however, he feels that disapproval is unnecessary or unjust he will harbor resentment and hatred.

For this reason disapproval should always be carefully considered and held to a minimum.

Q—My 11-year-old grandson has asthma. Will it hurt him to go swimming? Would it help to move to another climate?

A—There is no reason why a boy with asthma should not go swimming unless this brings him in contact with the cause of his asthma. The first step in the treatment of any allergy is to determine the cause and then avoid it. Many persons have tried to run away from their asthma by moving, but the odds are against them. Modern antihistaminic drugs provide a simpler and more effective answer to the problem.

Q—How does a starfish turn over?

A—It rights itself by bending its stiff arms and pulling with its tube feet.

Q—What is the political status of India and Pakistan?

A—They are both republics within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Why Are Police The Bogey Men?

Dear Ann Landers: I am a police officer in a large city and I ask you to print my letter as a public service.

Last week we received a "lost child" call. A five-year-old boy had wandered away from home and the parents were frantic. It took 50 policemen almost 24 hours to find the child. He was hiding in a garage two blocks from his home.

When we found him I asked, "Didn't you see the police?" Didn't you know we were looking for you?" The boy answered, "Yes, I saw the police. But Mommy always told me that if I was a bad boy the police would put me in jail. I was afraid."

Why do parents use the police as bogeymen to frighten small children? Youngsters should be taught that the police officer is a friend. This attitude of fear of ten carries over into adulthood and the cop is considered an enemy.

Please, Ann, explain to people how wrong this is. We officers need your help. Thanks.—O. M.

Dear O. M.: You've explained it—and I hope it hits home.

Dear Ann Landers: I am almost 14 years old and I am scared to death of bugs. When I see a spider I just about crack up. Even a grasshopper throws me into a sweat. Caterpillars and things that crawl are enough to make me nearly faint.

I hate to think of going through life scared of little things. None of my friends have this problem so I know I'm not normal. Why am I like this? Please help me.—ALL BUGGED UP

Dear Bugged: When you were very young you were probably frightened by a bug and you never got over being afraid.

It is normal to fear the unknown. If you knew more about bugs you wouldn't be terrified.

Read up on bugs—they are fascinating creatures. Then go out and find a ladybug and put one on your hand. From ladybugs go on to fireflies, then grasshoppers. You might become so interested that you may decide to be an entomologist.

Dear Ann Landers: I am so burned up I can hardly see. Please correct my spelling because I am too mad to spell right.

I sent a wedding gift to the daughter of a friend. This afternoon the bride's mother asked me to go over to her daughter's apartment to see how nicely she had fixed everything up.

Well, I looked high and low for my wedding gift.

Five U.P. Deer Hunters Die Of Heart Attacks

Five elderly hunters suffered fatal heart attacks during the first weekend of the Upper Peninsula hunting season.

No shooting fatalities have been reported, but several persons have been injured from rifle shots, State Police said.

None of the fatal heart attacks or shooting accidents have been in the Delta County area.

State Police of the Gladstone Post reported that two hunters who were lost overnight in Ewing Township of Marquette County walked out of the woods at 10 a.m. today with the aid of a penetrator siren from a patrol car.

Victims Identified
Troopers identified the men as Bernard Spade, 34, and Jerry Burkhart, 25, both of Lincoln Park. Officers said the men were "a little damp" but otherwise in good condition.

Heart attack victims were identified by United Press International as:

Raymond Hermanson, 51, Mass, Sunday night in Greenland Township, Ontonagon County;

Clare Foster, 58, Lansing, Saturday in Newton Township, Mackinac County;

Lyle Farrow, 68, Farwell, Saturday in Baraga Township, Baraga County;

Wendell Gamble, 73, rural Hart, Saturday in Bates Township, Iron County.

Deer Kill Light
Janice Edmark, 12, of Wakefield, was shot in both legs by a hunter and was reported in serious condition. Police said the girl was riding in a sleigh with her brother and when she stood up Allen Wipburn, 20, of West Allis, Wis., fired at what he thought was a deer.

Moose Sighted

A cow moose has been reported in the Bill's Creek area near Rapid River by eight or nine deer hunters, Conservation officers said today.

The sighting confirms reports by residents this summer of a moose in the area. Conservation officers warned hunters that moose are protected animals and may not be shot.

The bullet entered her upper right leg, continuing through to lodge in her left thigh. Conservation officers at Escanaba reported the deer kill in the Escanaba district as below normal.

Robert Timmer, district law supervisor, said 10 of 13 officers had reported "light" kills in their patrol areas. The other three reported "normal" kills. At 7 a.m. today, authorities at the Mackinac Bridge reported 546 deer and 10 bear had been carried across the Straits of Mackinac to Lower Michigan.

Conservation officers also reported that 29 arrests have been made in the district on violations ranging from killing a deer with too short antlers to killing more deer than allowed.

Rain Predicted
Weather conditions in the area were poor today as rain continued to fall after a clear Sunday for hunting. Snow ranging from a trace to four inches was reported along Lake Superior.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Escanaba reported that rain is likely to continue mixed with light snow tonight. More rain is predicted for Tuesday with a high temperature around 40. Wednesday's outlook calls for colder with snow flurries possible. State Police at Gladstone said today that they have received no reports of any lost hunters today. Three hunters, including William Gagnon, 47, of Gahanna, O., were located Saturday after being reported missing. Gagnon walked out of the woods north of Perkins after spending Friday night alone. He was reported in good condition.

Area Figures In Scientific Test

Thrush Transmits Aid To Migration Studies

Miniature radio transmitters have been used with success by game biologists to plot the localized travels of resident wildlife — deer, bear, grouse, even wolves. Now, this scientific breakthrough has been enlisted in man's effort to solve the mysteries of bird migration.

Audubon Magazine chronicles the 400-mile spring flight, at night, of a "bugged" thrush from Champaign-Urbana, Ill., up the length of Lake Michigan. Plus the adventures of the ornithologist and pilot who followed the tiny songbird in a plane.

The young gray-checked thrush, making its first trek north to its breeding grounds in northern Canada — a 2,500-mile journey from its winter home in South America — was caught in a banding net on the University of Illinois campus. A minute transmitter—weighing 2.5 grams, about as much as a dime—was glued to its back by Richard R. Graber, wildlife specialist with the Illinois Natural History Survey and author of the Audubon article.

For the next 15 hours, its whereabouts and movements were tracked by signals received first by a mobile station, then at two fixed stations with rotating antennas, then in a single-engine plane dubbed the Porcupine because of the rows of antenna whips designed to find the bird-like cheep-cheep-cheep of the one-ounce flier's radio.

The thrush fed and slept until dark in the same grove of trees where captured. At 7:55 p.m. it took off on a north-northeast course in what would be an eight-hour, non-stop flight over the Illinois farmland, small towns, Chicago, then the blackness of Lake Michigan.

Its ground speed, with help from a 22-knot wind, was 50 miles per hour. The bird's own air speed was calculated at 33 m.p.h. And the thrush's flight superiority over man in a machine was demonstrated on several occasions. First, Graber feared the lights of the city would confuse the migrant. Instead, electrical interference shattered radio contact while the gray-checked thrush kept an unerring flight path. Circling off shore and flying at an elevation of 5,500 feet to avoid crowding the bird, the researchers regained contact. But when the thrush's course meant a flight of 250 miles over the lake, 10 to 20 miles from shore, they returned to the safety of the mainland, and to refuge.

This broke radio contact a second time; the tiny transmitter has a working range of 25 miles. But by plotting the bird's direction and checking wind speed at Milwaukee and Green Bay, Graber felt the migrant might be intercepted at Washington Island, in Sturgeon Bay off the tip of the Door Peninsula and the first landfall on the thrush's route. If, Graber hoped, it survived the hazardous flight with its added burden.

A severe storm, however, kept the plane short of the hoped-for rendezvous point. Circling slowly on the projected flight line at the edge of the storm, pilot Jim Taylor incredulously picked up once again the familiar cadence of the bird's radio. It was 2:48 a.m., four hours and nine minutes since the last signal.

The gray-check was still holding its speed near 50 miles per hour. And it flew undaunted into the storm, leaving pilot Taylor and scientist Graber once again in safer circumstances.

"I stand in awe and admiration," Graber writes. "Space flights, closeup lunar photographs, walks in space—all stagger our imagination. Yet in a small, drab creature there is great hopefulness, grandeur, greatness."

"In each year's cycle, how many perils does it face; how many cold, wide waters must it cross; how many giant towers and poisoned orchards does it escape?" This was, he concludes, "an achievement of another kind by another species."

With The Deer Hunters

William Sovey, 329 N. 13th St., shot a 10-point buck near LaBranche at 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

John Cousineau, 103 N. 19th St., shot a 4-point, 140-pound buck at the Dishno Camp near Northland at 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Francis Rodgers, 1401 S. 13th St., got a 5-point, 150-pound buck at 9:15 a.m. Saturday at his Kamp Kant Ruffit at Watson. Palmer Derouin and Vernon Ihlenfeldt are hunting with him.

Lucky hunters at the John Kallman camp at Woodlawn were Ray Peterson, who shot a 6-point buck the first morning, after being out only 15 minutes, and his son Lynn, who downed a 4-pointer at noon the same day. Other hunters in the camp are Kallman, Dan Ferguson, Joe Gregoire, Tom Elegeert Sr., Tom Elegeert Jr. and Tony Orzel.

Mrs. Charles Anspaugh of Gladstone Rte. 1 has a 100 per cent record in her two years of deer hunting.

Last year she bagged a nice buck while hunting at Stonington. She returned there for the opening of the season on Saturday and brought down a doe weighing about 100 pounds at 8 a.m.

Her husband is hunting with a group of men at a camp in Menominee County. So far no report on whether he has bagged his deer.

His first hunting season proved a success for Donald Hardies of Bark River Rte. 1, who bagged a nine-point buck on Sunday morning near his home. Donald, 16 years old, had never hunted deer before.

Two of the hunting party at the Marenger - Nadon - Cheek camp at Alfred have filled their licenses it is reported today. Fred Marenger bagged an eight-point buck and Wally Marenger a spikehorn. Others in the party are Ed, Dick and Harold Marenger, Pat Nadon, Clint Miron, Marsh Dupue and Joe Horan.

Hunting success came to Dr. Charles Cole of 218 S. 5th St. on the opening day of the season while he and his party were hunting out of the Heiden cottage at Stonington. Dr. Cole bagged a four-point 125 pound buck about noon Saturday.

Eugene LeClaire of Bay View downed a spikehorn buck weighing about 120 pounds while hunting near Perkins at 5 p.m. Saturday. Others in the hunting party are Mrs. LeClaire of Bay View and Mr. and Mrs. Ray LeClaire of Perkins.

Two hunters at the Elmer Berthaume "Hill Haven" camp at Watson opened the season with kills on Saturday. Herb Peterson of Marquette, formerly of the Escanaba Daily Press business staff, downed an eight-pointer at 8 a.m., and Wilfred Ranguette filled his license with a spikehorn the same day. Others at "Hill Haven" camp this week are Pat Parker, Helen Berthaume, Wayne Berthaume, and Mary Ellen Ranguette.

John McGinnis of 1130 S. 30th St. is not only among the first of the deer hunters to fill his license — he is no doubt the youngest also. John, 15, on his first hunting foray, bagged a 130-pound doe on Saturday, the opening day, while hunting in the Ski Hill area west of the City of Escanaba. Not only that, he dropped the animal with one shot.

A later report today from the hunting McGinnis family added the name of Mrs. McGinnis to the list of successful hunters. She bagged a six-point buck weighing about 160 pounds while hunting in the Ski Hill area at 8:45 a.m. Sunday.

"This is my 13th year hunting and my second buck," she said. "Say, that's right, I wasn't unlucky on the 13th year, was I?" She was hunting with her husband and with John McMahon of Hyde when she made the kill.

"The men haven't gotten theirs yet," she said. "I guess they have been too busy hauling ours out."

Ole Peterson, Ford River Rd. shot a spikehorn buck at 8:30 a.m. Saturday while hunting from his camp at Stonington.

Candy Swetits, 220 S. 8th St., became one of the first distaff hunters to report a deer kill. She bagged a nine-point, 134-pound buck at 9:15 a.m. Sunday while hunting near Watson.

Dobbertowsky, Jack Barnes, George Barnes, and Tony Amrecki, all of Detroit, and Kenneth and Kent McMartin and Alolph LaMarche of Escanaba. Kenneth and Kent McMartin filled their licenses Sunday morning. Kenneth with a seven-point buck and Kent with a doe. Wives of the men are also staying at the camp.

Steve Javurek, 16, of 412 S. 18th St., killed his first buck—a nine-point, 200-pounder—at 11 a.m. Saturday in the north Fox area. A student at Escanaba Area High School, Steve made his first deer kill last season when he filled his doe license.

Firms Prodded For Reports On Power Blackout

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Power investigators want major eastern power companies to supply them with "complete and specific" information on what steps have been — and will be — taken to prevent another big blackout in the northeast.

Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Suidler, named by President Johnson to head the inquiry into the massive northeast power failure, dispatched telegrams to all utilities serving the area during the weekend.

Suidler and other FPC investigators worked through the weekend attempting to piece together the reasons why the power failed. Sunday they examined photographs of electrical disturbances, called oscillograms.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Girl Hypnotized For 16 Hours

DEARBORN (UPI)—Officials at Henry Ford Community College have suspended a part-time psychology instructor for putting a pretty young coed under an hypnotic trance Friday night from which it took 16 hours for her to be revived.

The instructor, Gerald G. Griffin, 32, of nearby Nankin Township, put the girl, Cynthia Wellman, 18, Inkster, under the hypnotic trance while the two sat in her car in a parking lot near the school.

Griffin said he did not perform the hypnosis in class because college officials told him not to use hypnosis with his class since they felt it did not relate to his introductory psychology course. He had admitted using hypnosis on seven other students.

Griffin said he became worried about Miss Wellman when she would not respond to his commands or arouse from the trance. He said he transferred her to his car and took her to his home. There he and his wife let her sleep on the sofa.

Griffin said he contacted the girl's mother and Wayne County General Hospital and rushed the girl to the hospital. A Detroit psychiatrist, Dr. Bruce L. Danto, finally revived Miss Wellman more than 16 hours after Griffin had put her under the spell. Dr. Danto was treating her for any lingering effects of the hypnosis. Griffin, who is scheduled to take his oral examinations for a doctoral degree in counseling psychology Thursday, said he never has used hypnosis "at a party or for sensational purposes."

"I'm a scientist," he said. Police said they would not charge Griffin because there was no law regulating the use of hypnosis and there was no evidence of the hypnosis being used for improper purposes.

State To Plan For Emergencies

HOUGHTON—Michigan may not be completely prepared to cope with a massive power failure such as the one just experienced by New Yorkers, but plans for just such an emergency are being made.

According to Dr. Thomas Ellis, director of Michigan Tech's Civil Defense program and associate professor of nuclear engineering, plans for normal or near normal operation under emergency conditions—either natural or "man-made"—are included in the state's CD program.

First phase, public conferences, will begin in December.

The program is being carried out under the terms of an $80,000 contract with the Federal Office of Civil Defense.

Scarce Shillings Shipped To U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A shipment of 10,000 of the only five shilling pieces in existence that bear the likeness of Sir Winston Churchill arrived here Friday from London.

The collectors items, with face value of about 70 cents, were consigned to Gourmet Party Pantry, a mail order gift shop in Manhattan. The coins were struck in a limited number by the British royal mint.

About the size of a silver dollar, the coins carry an engraving of Churchill on one side and Queen Elizabeth on the other.

Picking Up SPEED

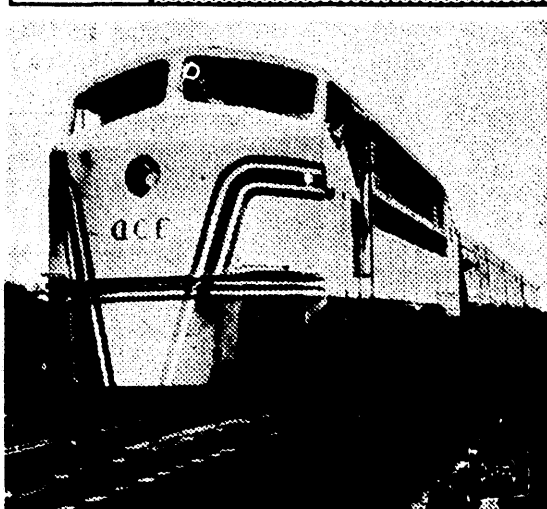

The world's fastest train now streaking along the rails in Japan, is very likely to speed solution of some of this country's transportation problems. Lessons learned from the new Hikari (Flash)—covering the 322 miles between Tokyo and Osaka, Japan's two largest cities, in 3 hours 10 minutes—are certain to influence planning for high-speed rail service in our "northeast corridor" from Washington to Boston. At left is the Hikari, which hits speeds up to 150 m.p.h. on special roadbeds and with special safety devices and control equipment. Similar scale maps below show the Tokyo-Osaka route, left, and the U.S. "northeast corridor," right. It is hoped eventually to have trains making the 454-mile Washington-Boston run in something like four hours.

EUROPE has several fast trains. Italy's Martini covers the 600-mile Milan-Rome-Naples run at 100 m.p.h. and better.

FRANCE'S Mistral, until the Hikari the world's fastest, averages close to 80 m.p.h. on the 195-mile Dijon leg of its Paris-Riviera run.

SPAIN'S Talgo does the 400 miles from Irun, on the French border to Madrid in eight hours, takes curves at 70 m.p.h.

Judy Garland Marries Actor

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Singer Judy Garland, 43, and her longtime traveling companion, actor Mark Herron, 35, were honeymooning today at this desert gambling spa. The couple flew here from Hollywood by commercial airliner last Saturday night and went to the Clark County courthouse to obtain a marriage license. They were married after midnight.

As they emerged from the courthouse a light rain was falling. "Oh, the rain, that's a good omen," said Miss Garland. She explained that the marriage did not take place until early Sunday because she was superstitious and did not want to marry on the 13th. It was the first marriage for Herron and the fourth for Miss Garland. Her previous husbands were composer Dave Rose, Producer-Director Vincente Minelli and Producer Sid Luft. She had a daughter, Liza, by Minelli and two children by Luft, Joseph, 10, and Lorna, 12.

Hurley To Get Plastics Plant

HURLEY, Wis. — An Illinois plastics firm has announced plans to establish the Hurley Plastics Co., here, employing about 30 persons at its start. The announcement was made by Otto Ersparner, president of the Iron County Resources Development Assn., and Richard D. Buck, president of the Richard Plastic Co., Aurora, Ill., parent of the Hurley Plastics Co. The firm plans to begin operations by Dec. 1.

Hurley has been without a major industry since the closing of the Cary iron mine last January. It once had been a booming iron mining community. The new firm will use part of the old Cary mine plant temporarily and will move to permanent quarters when space is found.

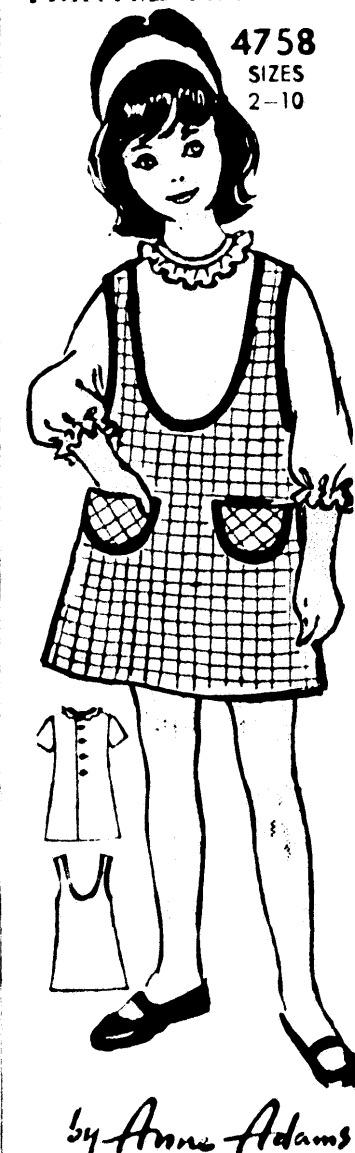

The Cary plant is owned by the city. It was bought from the mining firm by the county development group for $1 and given to the city to use to attract new industry.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:
We all have to serve wieners (hot dogs, frankfurters—whatever you call them) once in a while for the budget's sake, but not having much of a "yen" for them, I have been experimenting with various recipes to make them more to my family's liking.

Now we serve them often and do you know why? Well, we ordered wieners in a big restaurant, and they were so delicious. (and at the price we paid, they had to be good). I went to their kitchen to learn how they were prepared. Here is how:

They lay thawed wieners (I prepare four at a time) side by side on a piece of foil. With a sharp knife, they score all of them at one time, diagonally, about one-eighth inch deep with about one-fourth inch between scores. Then, the wieners are turned over and the scoring process is repeated on the other side, resulting in little "diamond" shapes on the wieners. They did not season them.

The foil is then closed. The top and ends are doubled to keep juices in, and the package is then placed directly in a preheated, 350 degree oven. After 30 minutes slit open the top of the foil to let a wee bit of steam escape in order to get a slight browning across the little scores of those nice, juicy wieners.

If you want those "dogs" to be on cloud nine, sprinkle them with parmesan cheese, or paprika, a few minutes before serving. The scores hold the cheese or paprika on the dog.

This is "yummys" when served on a bed of steaming sauerkraut.

Or, how about baking a pot of beans to go along with this? WOW!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
To keep that broom or mop handle from scratching and marking walls when I lean it up against the wall, when cleaning house, I covered the tops of the handles with tiny baby stretch socks. Works great!

A Reader

Dear Heloise:
I used to care for a nurse's cotton uniforms. When she brought them to me, they were very badly stained with medicine and perspiration, and were yellowish in color.

After I washed them in hot water, soap and bleach, I put them back into the machine with white dye color remover, then hung them in the sun. They came out sparkling white and as pretty as new.

This treatment can be given often with no ill effects to most white materials, if the directions on the package are followed carefully.

I. A. B.

Dear Heloise:
For diaper pails without deodorizers, I found that a toilet bowl deodorizer kills all odor, and leaves the baby's room sweet-smelling.

Mrs. Rhea Dettell

Dear Heloise:

Here's how I keep socks straight for my three small boys:

The youngest boy wears striped socks, the middle one a diamond pattern, and the oldest has argyles.

This system is so simple that my girls even like to help me sort the socks now.

County Building Plans Rejected; Needs Restrooms

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Plans for the proposed new county building have got to go, in the opinion of employees and department heads.

Architects and planners last week revealed the plans, which do not include rest rooms for employees on the first floor of the building. Opposition by workers and department heads to making trips one floor up or one level down to rest rooms has sent the planners back to the drawing boards.

Rat Poison Kills New Haven Boy, 2

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Crackers coated with rat poison have been blamed in the death of a 2-year-old New Haven boy Sunday.

Authorities said Donald Walker, 2, died in a Detroit Hospital shortly after he found the crackers while playing in the attic at his home Sunday.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Virginia Walker, had placed the crackers in the attic in an attempt to rid it of rats.

The boy was first given emergency treatment in Mount Clemens and then transferred to Detroit where efforts to save him failed.

Women's Club Will Hear Anita Meyland

On Wednesday, Nov. 17, Mrs. Gunther Meyland (Anita E.) will present to the Women's Club of Escanaba a program on "Arts and Crafts". Mrs. Meyland will speak before the business meeting.

Anita Meyland came to Marquette in 1924 with her husband, where he became professor of English at Northern Michigan University. She was educated in the Milwaukee Public Schools and was graduated from Northern Division High School in Milwaukee. She graduated from the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee in 1918 and attended the University of Wisconsin from 1921 to 1922. She received her B. A. Degree from Northern Michigan College in 1932. She worked on her Master's Degree at the University of Michigan and the University of Wisconsin.

Since coming to Marquette, Mrs. Meyland has been active in it's women's club and has held numerous offices in local, district and state women's club activities for nearly forty years.

In the arts, Mrs. Meyland has worked with the Marquette Art Guild and has been active in the Lake Superior Art Association. She is an artist in her own right and has exhibited in many areas of the peninsula.

She is a charter member of the U. P. Crafts Council and has served as president, vice-president and has been conference chairman three times. She has had crafts accredited training and also has had courses in weaving, silversmithing, pottery and creative stitching. At present she is teaching rug-making. She has attended workshops in senigraphy, sculpture and painting at the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Meyland finds pleasure in presenting the talents of others. "The Impresario", a bureau she directs, presents the arts, craft speakers and folk lore of the U. P. She also arranges for judges, exhibitors and lessons in many art forms. Primarily an artist of water color medium, she creates besides batiks, stitcheries, hooked rugs and creative weavings on order by appointment.

She won a State Women's Club Award with her bedside puppet show "Ferdinand and the Bull". She is a member of the Marquette Guild and has presented "Hansel and Gretel." Her chief hobby is a large collection of blue and white china.

Anita Meyland feels that, if in years to come her various contributions have inspired, comforted or challenged just one woman to warrant Goldsmith's words "and still the wonder grew, that one small person all these things could do," her mission has been accomplished. Oddly enough, Goldsmith's words fit Mrs. Meyland quite well.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce Building and Mrs. Norman Arntzen is program chairman. Co-chairman for the day are Mrs. Conrad Byrns and Mrs. Arno Whipple. They will be assisted by the Mesdames, Ed Hurley, James Legault, Harry Reynolds, Sherwood Trotter, N. J. Thelsen, Ernest LaFave Jr., Clifford Frasier, D. J. Babcock, E. Wessel and Merton Jensen.

Esky Boasts Good Height, Experience On Basketball Team

Coach Harold Johnson has seven lettermen, including four players who started games at some time last season, back on the 1965-66 Escanaba High School basketball team.

The Eskymos will open the new campaign Friday night, Nov. 19, in a home stand against the Holy Name Crusaders.

The game will be a Great Northern Conference contest. The Great Northern loop, in its first basketball season, also includes Menominee, Stephenson, Iron Mountain and Kingsford.

Back in the fold from the team that won 8, lost 10 last season are letter winners Bob Haack, Rick Kutchenberg, Steven Oman, Jim Boyle, and Bernard Larson, Paul Miller and Dave Nyquist. Of those veterans, Nyquist, Miller, Boyle and Oman were starters in several games last season.

Lost through graduation were regulars Dick Sivertsen and Paul Meunier, in addition to Jim Clairmont, Ray Anderson and Jerry Hanson. About half of the 1,168 points scored last season came from the players lost through graduation.

Rounding out this year's squad are Jack Long, Bob Irish, Bob Myrvall, Mike Olsen and Bob Schmeling.

The Eskymos will have good height in addition to experience with Nyquist and Myrvall both standing 6 feet 5 inches while Larson is an inch shorter. Oman, Boyle, Irish, Miller and Schmeling are also 6-feet or better.

Nyquist is currently sidelined with a knee injury suffered in football and the Eskymo mentor does not know if he will be available for the opening.

"We lost a pair of fine guards through graduation but last year's experience should help our returning inside men. The team has a good attitude, desire and great potential," Johnson states.

The Eskymo coach, native of Felch and graduate of Michigan State in 1950, has compiled a record of 120 victories against 54 defeats in nine years at his position.

Junior varsity coach is Bob Thibault and Ken Peterson is the freshman coach.

Lions Lose Title Hopes

DETROIT (UPI)—A plodding 245-pound defensive lineman picked up a loose football Sunday afternoon and outran all of the Detroit Lions' lingering dreams of a 1965 National Football League title.

The lineman was San Francisco's Clark Miller, capitalizing on the second catastrophic Detroit mistake of the day and giving the 49ers a 27-21 win over the Lions.

At the time of Miller's run, Detroit was riding the crest of rising momentum, was trailing only 20-14 and was sitting on the nine yard line of San Francisco ready to score a touchdown and then take the lead on an anticipated extra point kick by Wayne Walker.

But that win, which would have kept Detroit in contention for the Western Division lead, never materialized. Milt Plum dropped back to pass but instead was dropped himself by two blitzing defensemen and he fumbled the ball.

Outruns Karas

Miller grabbed the football with a two-step head start on the closest Lion player, Ted Karas, and in a show-motion race, outgassed the Detroit lineman to the goal for the final San Francisco touchdown.

That happened early in the fourth quarter. The Lions did core again with fullback Nick Pietrosante plunging two yards after Plum had thrown a 17-yard pass to Pat Studstill and San Francisco had been penalized for pass interference.

Plum Hits Studstill

Detroit tried again at the closing minute of the game, but it was too late. They ran out of downs on the 16 yard line of the 49ers and had to take their fourth loss against five wins for the season.

Miller's touchdown was the second one the Lions offense had given away. San Francisco had taken a first period lead of 3-0 on a field goal climaxing their opening series of the game.

Watkins Fumbles

When Detroit got the ball, Tommy Watkins fumbled as he tried to make a turn on the first play from scrimmage. Dave Wilcox, a San Francisco linebacker, scooped the ball along on the ground for about 10 yards before finally picking it up on the eight yard line and carrying it over for a touchdown.

That gave San Francisco a 10-0 lead in the first six minutes of the game.

The 49ers came back to score 10 more in the second quarter with quarterback John Brodie mixing his passes expertly with the sensational running of rookie fullback Ken Willard.

Brodie threw a seven yard pass to end Dave Parks after Tommy Davis had kicked the second field goal of the afternoon in the second period.

The Lions came back strongly with Milt Plum coming off the bench to move the club. Plum fired two passes to end Ron Kramer and San Francisco was called for pass interference to set up a five-yard touchdown run by Amos Marsh at 3:20 of the second half.

Plum Hits Studstill

Detroit scored again in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter with Plum throwing a 22-yard pass to Pat Studstill, who made a diving catch in the corner of the San Francisco end zone.

Then after the Lions had gone 37 yards in six plays, moving to the San Francisco nine, disaster struck as Plum fumbled and Miller scored.

Brodie finished his afternoon's work with 20 pass completions in 32 attempts, for 196 yards and a touchdown. The hard running Willard belted his way to 89 yards in 15 carries.

Detroit's leading ground gainer, Joe Don Looney, missed the game because of the after-effects of an injury suffered last week against Green Bay.

ONE REASON the San Francisco 49ers got off to a surprisingly good start in the National Football League was quarterback John Brodie, getting ready to toss here.

Colts Win With Unitas Bench

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

No one will ever accuse the Baltimore Colts of extravagance when it comes to signing quarterbacks.

The story of how Johnny Unitas was acquired as a free agent while playing semipro football in Pittsburgh for $6 a week in 1964 is legendary and now they've come up with another bargain in Unitas' understudy Gary Cuozzo.

Cuozzo, who had appeared in 18 games as a substitute over a three-season span, was given this first NFL starting assignment Sunday when Unitas was sidelined with a painful back injury. The script was straight from Hollywood as the former Virginia star that nobody wanted fired five touchdowns passes (a team record) in leading the Colts to a 41-21 triumph over the Minnesota Vikings.

In other NFL games, Green Bay edged Los Angeles 63; Cleveland walloped New York 34-21; Chicago dumped St. Louis 34-13; San Francisco downed Detroit 27-21. Philadelphia defeated Washington 21-14; and Dallas whipped Pittsburgh 24-17.

Cuozzo was overlooked by all 14 NFL teams in the 1962 draft of college seniors and only the fact that he was chosen to appear in the post-season Senior Bowl game that year gave him the opportunity to play pro ball.

Easy Signing

Weeb Ewbank was the Colts' coach at that time and filling in as one of the honorary coaches at the Senior Bowl. Cuozzo impressed Ewbank enough to get an invitation for a tryout and the signing soon followed. Few quarterbacks have come cheaper — especially for Ewbank.

Cuozzo lived up to his notices as one of the game's finest second stringers at Minnesota as he picked up 201 yards, three times and gained enough through the air while completing 16 of 26 aerials, including mark for the seventh time in the five TDs. The five scoring strikes eclipsed Unitas' best effort and increased Cuozzo's career total to eight.

The victory, Baltimore's eighth in nine games, enabled the defending Western Division champs to maintain a one-game lead over Green Bay.

The Packers snapped a two game losing streak with one of the shortest field goals in league history. Stalled six inches from the end zone with 37 seconds remaining, the Packers called on Don Chandler who stepped back to the seven yard line and pierced the uprights for the second time during the afternoon.

The Packers were headed for a 3-3 tie when Lionel Aldridge recovered a fumble on the Ram 20 with approximately two minutes left.

Rickey Still Unconscious

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Branch Rickey, a monumental figure in baseball, remained unconscious and in critical condition today after suffering a heart attack.

The 84-year-old Rickey collapsed Saturday night while making a speech during his induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

He has received oxygen continuously since he was brought to Boone County Hospital. Rickey had been hospitalized in St. Louis for two weeks because of temperatures as high as 105 degrees. He was released Saturday morning so he could make the acceptance speech.

After the ceremonies he was to return to the hospital.

Parsons Eleven Edges Northern

FAIRFIELD, Iowa — Bowl-bound Parsons College, using a fake punt to set up the winning touchdown, and getting a big assist from a 15 yard penalty, defeated Northern Michigan University, 13-7, before 5,300 screaming Homecoming fans Saturday afternoon.

The fake punt pass, covering 39 yards on a pass from Larry Blixt to Paul Read, put Parsons on the Northern three. Halfback George Smith scored his second touchdown of the afternoon on the next play, boosting Parsons to their 13-7 game-winning margin with seven minutes to play.

Earlier, late in the third period, Northern was threatening to break a 7-7 deadlock on the Parsons six. But the Wildcats were called for clipping on the line of scrimmage, pushing the ball back to the 21. Northern lost ground trying to pass, and a 43-yard field goal attempt by Tony Richardson barely missed the mark.

Both teams scored in the second period. Parsons marched 92 yards early in the quarter, Smith scampering the final 21 for the score, and Larry O'Dell booted the point. Northern hit paydirt on a nine-yard pass from Bill Sauter to Richardson two minutes before halftime, and Richardson kicked the PAT to knot the score at 7-7.

Northern had two fourth quarter scoring chances. A 41-yard field goal attempt by Richardson, his second long boot of the day, was again slightly to the right. Then later, following Parsons second TD, the Wildcats drove to the Parsons 34, only to fumble. The winners promptly ran out the clock.

NMU, now 7-2, ends the season Saturday at the University of Tampa. Parsons is now 7-1.

Irish Fans Get Strict Warning

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Apparently remembering a group of zealous students and fans last year who attacked the Michigan State University Band while it walked across the campus, the president of Notre Dame University has warned such action could bring "an end to intercollegiate competition" to the school.

The Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., Saturday sent letters to all students living on campus urging them to avoid "turning the campus into a jungle or embarking on an emotional binge in misguided enthusiasm for a football victory over Michigan State next Saturday."

Although Rev. Hesburgh did not mention the incident specifically, it was believed he was referring to the attack last year by students and fans on the MSU band as it walked across the campus following an Irish victory.

"Football at Notre Dame remains wholesome only as long as one remembers that it is after all only a game," he said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Navy's goat — Billy XIV — is being held "somewhere in New York State" by West Pointers who raided the Annapolis, Md., grounds Saturday night and intend to hold the hostage until the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia Nov. 27.

AKRON, OHIO (UPI) — Professional Bowlers Association founder Eddie Elias reported today that prize money for the PBA's 1966 13-city tour will top the $700,000 mark for the first time in history.

CHICAGO (UPI) — A survey by the Athletic Institute disclosed today that there were 13,306 boys' baseball leagues with 83,162 teams in action during the 1965 season. The institute estimated that 2,860,888 boys participated in the youth program.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A National Hockey League game will be televised in color for the first time in the United States on Nov. 27, when the New York Rangers play the Chicago Black Hawks at Madison Square Garden.

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Cyrille Guimard of France won the final lap of the 20-day Mexican Cross-Country Bicycle Race Sunday when he covered the 164-kilometer distance (101.8 miles) in four hours, 59 minutes and three seconds.

Sandy Koufax won 11 straight games for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1965.

Bureau Urges Farm Freedom

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Delegates to the Michigan Farm Bureau convention have adopted a resolution demanding a new national farm program with emphasis on higher income through more production and less controls.

The resolution, adopted by about 600 voting delegates at the end of the two-day meeting last Thursday, urged "more freedom for farmers to produce . . . more food for the world's hungry . . . and, less cost and more results for the taxpayers."

"We believe that American farmers will more efficiently and effectively provide for the future needs and desires of consumers if they are subjected only to a minimum of government bureaucracy," the resolution said.

Delegates called for "higher farm income based on production" and elimination of allotments, quotas "and other hampering regulations." They said food for impoverished areas of the world should be "purchased on the market and provided as America's contribution to the prevention of starvation."

The resolution was among more than 100 adopted on the final day of the 46th annual Farm Bureau meeting. Delegates also elected six directors and leaders of Farm Bureau Women and Young Peoples Committees.

Other resolutions urged a state tax reform program, including "significant" property tax relief, applauded efforts to reapportion state legislative districts and urged schools "instill in students at all grade levels the greatness of our country, its religious principles, its constitution and its heritage."

Delegates also approved resolutions urging the state to renege and lower tolls on the Mackinac Bridge, study the use of a piecework pay rate in lieu of a minimum wage for harvest workers and a study of ways to control "blackbirds, starlings and other destructive birds."

Resolutions tabled included those for posting crosses at highway death sites and an investigation into farm labor programs.

Whiplash Injury Pain Cured In Second Accident

PETOSKEY (UPI) — Jack Burley, a Petoskey insurance man, had two accidents recently—and welcomed the second one in retrospect.

Burley was injured in a two-car crash in Wyoming, Mich., last week and suffered whiplash injuries.

Burley bought a new car at nearby Grand Rapids, and was returning north of Walloon Lake when it struck and killed a spikehorn buck.

Burley said since the second accident the soreness and pain have disappeared from his back and neck.

Michigan Leads In War On TB

A physician at the University of Michigan Medical Center praises the State Legislature for "taking a lead" in tuberculosis control. Dr. Winthrop N. Davey, professor of internal medicine, says Michigan is pioneering in granting county aid to check on convalescing TB patients.

"This aid could prevent TB relapses and save precious hospital space," says Dr. Davey. The $300,000 aid follows years of county recommendations and—in particular—reports from the Surgeon General's National Task Force of Tuberculosis to which Dr. Davey was appointed in 1963.

Michigan now spends almost as much on tuberculosis treatment as does the federal government. According to State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis, the state's share of the cost of TB hospitalization is over $12 million this year. The federal government program totals $15 million.

Dr. Heustis said the $300,000 will be allocated on the basis of $6 for each visit by a public health nurse to a convalescing TB patient's home, or for each visit by a patient to a TB clinic. "If, by intensive follow-up care of all discharged TB patients, we can prevent reactivation of their disease, it would be possible to reduce the hospital case load by one-fourth," Dr. Heustis said.

Twenty years ago, the U-M Medical Center in Ann Arbor began pioneering achievements in the TB control. Here, in 1945,

Dr. John Adcock made the initial clinical studies of streptomycin. Streptomycin is one of the three drugs discovered in the last 20 years to fight tuberculosis. (The other two are isoniazid and PAS).

"These drugs, in combination with higher standards of living, have reduced the average hospital stay of TB patients from 3 years to 8 months or less since 1950," Dr. Davey said. "University Hospital has reduced its TB ward from 98 to 26 beds since 1949 and sanatoriums in Detroit, Howell and Gaylord have been closed due to the continuing decrease in hospital days for tuberculosis patients."

Following the more rapid recovery and release of patients from tuberculosis hospitals, counties have had to assume the "follow-up" care of these TB convalescents. To these counties will go the $300,000 aid, said Dr. Davey.
